Visit JOSHA at the Frankfurt book fair

The Journal of Science, Humanities, and Arts is happy to announce that we will take part at the upcoming Frankfurt Book Fair, opening on October 11th, 2017 at the Frankfurt Trade Fair grounds in Frankfurt am Main, Germany.

The Frankfurt Book Fair is the world's largest trade fair for books, based on both, the number of publishing companies represented, and the number of visitors¹. It is considered to be the most important book fair in the world for international deals and trading. Publishing-, multimedia- and technology companies, as well as content providers from all over the world, gather in this book fair. Publishers, agents, booksellers, librarians, academics, illustrators, service providers, film producers, translators, professional and trade associations, institutions, artists, authors, antiquarians, software and multimedia suppliers all participate in this event. The fair is organised by Frankfurter Buchmesse GmbH. The five-day annual event starts on October 11th and ends on October 15th, 2017.

We are very proud of being part of such an important event and share our significant mission with the thousands of visitors that the fair receives every year. We will be showing, for instance, the full features of our software, our current main work, the Demetrios project, and information about the International Academy of Science, Humanities and Arts IAHSa, among others. Come to visit us at stand number 4.2 A 42. We look forward to receiving you at our stand to have interesting interaction, explain you our important work, answer all your questions and get feedback from you that will helps us to improve JOSHA constantly.
